OPEN CHAMPIONSHIP AT BALTIMORE,
SEPTEMBER 14 and 15, 1899.

Seventy-two started, 61 of whom were professionals and the other 11 amateurs. At the end of the first day's play of 36 holes the eight best men were as follows:

Willie Anderson, New York.....	77, 81—158
Willie Smith, Chicago.....	77, 82—159
George Low, Dyker Meadow.....	82, 79—161
Aleck Campbell, Boston.....	83, 80—163
Aleck Smith, Chicago.....	82, 81—163
Val. Fitzjohn, Otsego.....	85, 80—165
A. Patrick, New York.....	82, 83—165
W. H. Way, Detroit.....	80, 85—165

The second day's play brought about some decided changes, Willie Smith, of the Midlothian Golf Club, of Chicago, winning the championship, with ten points to spare, over his most formidable opponents. His score was as follows:

[illegible]

JOHN MOLLER, JR.
T. C. ENNEVER.
F. M. BOHLEN.

The U. S. G. A. gave $800 in prizes. Of the $200 for first prize Smith got $150 in cash and $50 was expended for a medal. George Low, Dyker Meadow; W. H. Way, Detroit Country Club, and Val. Fitzjohn, Otsego, tied for second place and divided second, third and fourth money, $150, $125 and $100, making a total of $375, which gave them $125 each. They tied at 326. Fifth money, $80, went to Willie Anderson, whose score was 327; sixth money, $70, was captured by Jack Park, Essex County Country Club, with a score of 328; Harry Gullane, of the St. David's Golf Club, got seventh money, $50, with a score of 331, while eighth money, $25, was divided by Peter Walker, of the Onwentsia Club, of Chicago, and Lawrence Auchterloine, of the Glenview Golf Club, of Chicago, each having a score of 333.

The best score made by an amateur was 339, by Herbert M. Harriman, of the Meadowbrook Hunt Club, metropolitan and amateur champion.

TOURNAMENTS

OCEAN COUNTY HUNT AND COUNTRY CLUB.

Special New Year's Day Open Handicap, Monday, January 1, 1899.

Played upon snow-clad links with eighty-six starters. Owing to the snow and large field of competitors, eighteen instead of thirty-six holes were played. Walter J. Travis, Oakland, was the only scratch player. The George Jay Gould Cup was won by H. A. Dalley, Jr., Ardsley, an eighteen-year-old boy. E. L. Chetwood, Richmond Hill, won the club cup, and J. C. Rennard, Tuxedo, the best gross score prize. Their scores were:

Open Best Ball Inter-Club Foursomes, at Ardsley, October

12-14, 1899.

Eleven teams entered and a preliminary round brought it down to eight couples for the first round. Preliminary Round—St. Andrew's, R. H. Robertson and James B. Baker beat Englewood: Dr. John A. Wells and Dr. F. M. Wilson, 1 up in 21 holes; Fairfield, C. S. Cox and Edward Leavitt beat Richmond County: Otis L. Williams and E. O. Schuyler, 3 up and 2 to play.

Some record-breaking golf was played in this best ball contest, as the Westbrook team cut the record of the links down by nine strokes in their match with the Essex County Country Club. The summary follows:

Ardsley Club "Best Ball" Inter-Club Team Tournament.—First Round—Fairfield, C. S. Cox and E. Leavitt beat St. Andrew's, R. H. Robertson and J. B. Baker by 1 up in 20 holes; Westbrook, H. B. Hollins, Jr., and R. C. Watson, Jr., beat Essex County, Howard A. Colby and T. T. Reid, by 4 up and 2 to play; Ardsley, H. M. Billings and J. B. Tailer, beat Dyker Meadow, Duncan Edwards and W. B. Crittenden, by 1 up; Baltusrol, Hugh K. Toler and L. P. Bayard, Jr., beat Oakland by default.

Second Round—Westbrook beat Fairfield by 5 up and 4 to play, and Baltusrol beat Ardsley by 4 up and 3 to play.

Final Round—Westbrook beat Baltusrol, in a 36-hole final, by 9 up and 8 to play. Westbrook's best ball for the first eighteen holes was 73, Hollins doing the round in 81 and Watson in 80. They did their next ten holes in 43.

Gold medal for best score in qualifying round won by Miss Eunice Terry, Ardsley, 101.

Driving Contest.—Best of three balls—Miss May Barron, Ardsley, 135 yards; Miss Brooks, Ardsley, 125 yards; Miss Underhill, Nassau, 120 yards; Miss Herron, Cincinnati, 120 yards; Mrs. Ashmore, Baltusrol, 118 yards; Miss Terry, Ardsley, 115 yards; Mrs. Cochrane, Ardsley, 115 yards; Mrs. Tappan, Westbrook, 112 yards.

Approaching and Putting Contest.—Three balls from 35, 25 and 15 yards respectively. Nothing above 12 was considered. Miss Herron won, 2, 4, 4—10; Mrs. Cochrane, 3, 4, 4—11; Mrs. Charles S. Brown, 4, 4, 3—11; Mrs. Tappan, 3, 4, 4—11; Miss Brooks, 4, 4, 4—12.

The tournament was wound up with a "best ball" foursome, the first ever held in this country for women. Mrs. Cochrane and Miss Herron played from scratch, allowing a handicap of five to Miss Underhill and Miss Barron and nine to Mrs. Eldridge and Miss Brooks. Miss Underhill and Miss Barron won, with their handicap off by a margin of 7 strokes, although they could have won by 2 strokes from scratch. Mrs. Eldridge and Miss Brooks tied with the scratch pair. The scores were as follows:

GAME OF GOLF

Golf may be practised on any good stretch of meadow land where the grass is not too rank, but the ground best suited for the purpose is a reach of undulating down country, such as is common on the seaboard—sandy in soil and much covered with a short, crisp turf, occasionally broken up by sand holes or “bunkers.” These bunkers constitute the main hazards of the game, in the avoidance of which, skill in it is especially shown, and without a fair provision of them, no golfing “links” or “green” can be held to approach the ideal standard. Golf courses are generally called links, not that the word link has anything to do with golf, except for the fact that the sandy stretches by the seashore, which in Scotland are called links, are best adapted to the game. A hazard is a general term for anything in the nature of an obstacle—fences, brush, trees, water, roads, rough grass, in fact, anything which tends to make the “approach” to the hole more difficult. The course includes eighteen “holes,” which may be placed according to the “lie of the ground” at any distance from 100 to 500 yards apart. A course is usually more or less in a circle, to avoid collision between outgoing and incoming players. Some courses have only nine holes, twice around, making a full course; the holes, which are placed anywhere on the “putting green,” are $4\frac{1}{4}$ inches in diameter and not less than four inches in depth. The putting green itself ought not to be less than 60 feet square and smooth as it is possible to get it, the location of the hole being designated by a disc or flag placed in the centre of the hole and taken out when approaching and replaced after scoring. The “teeing ground,” which is conveniently adjacent to each hole, is a space marked out, within the limits of which the ball must be “teed.”

The object of the game is to put a small gutta percha ball into a series of holes in the least number of strokes, and it can be played as follows:

Singles—Two persons playing one against the other, each person having a ball, and counting by holes and not by the strokes taken for the whole round.

Foursumes—Two persons playing against the other two, the partners playing alternate strokes, each side having its own ball.

The usual play is "hole play," that is to say, the game is decided by one player having won more holes than his opponent, the total amount of strokes taken to "do the course" not being considered, and each hole being decided separately and being won by the player who makes it in the least number of strokes.

In medal play, the player who makes the whole round in the least number of strokes is the winner.

At the commencement of the game the player puts a little pat of sand down on the teeing ground and puts his ball on top and strikes it as far as he can in the direction of the first hole. After that, until he "holes" his ball, he must play it strictly from its place as it happens to be, in sand, bunker or elsewhere, and not touch it again until he picks it out of the first hole, preparatory to teeing it again to drive to the second hole, and so on until he has gone around the course.

The "approach" and the "putting" are by far the most difficult, critical and important parts of the game, although no one who is not fairly competent to drive his ball will ever be likely to rank as a first-class player.

The maximum length of a good driving stroke may be fairly said to be something over 175 yards and under 200, always supposing that the player is not favored by any exceptional circumstances, although it is a recorded fact that Mr. F. G. Tait drove a ball 280 yards of clear carry, carefully measured, at St. Andrew's, Scotland.

GOLF CLUBS.

Perhaps there is no game where prejudice influences the player's mind as in this one, and a man will swear by the maker of a club or ball, because he pulls off a match by being in good form, but which he ascribes to the merits of the tools he is handling.

The shafts of golf clubs are made of lancewood, greenheart, ash and, best of all, hickory; the heads of all kinds of wood, but beech, hickory (compressed), dogwood and persimmon are the best. Dogwood, of which nine-tenths of the clubs used in America are made, possesses all the driving power of beech with twice its durability, and is being very largely exported to Scotland, where the clubmakers recognize its superiority over beech.

There are a thousand and one patents and inventions, but they are, as a rule, of little value. A few have merit, such as the Cran Patent Brassie Cleek, which is the same as an ordinary cleek, with the face hollowed out and wood inserted. With this cleek a man can drive nearly as far as he can with a wood driver, and the ball goes off just as "sweet." Mr. Findlay Douglas, the amateur champion of America of 1898, plays with one, instead of a brassie, through the green.

The gooseneck putter has considerable merit over the old-fashioned putter, inasmuch as it enables the player to see the blade of the putter when addressing the ball, and the ball seems to run truer and closer to the ground. The centraject mashie, if the verdict of half the golfing fraternity is any criterion, is superior to any other. The trouble with drivers and brassies in the past has been that it has been almost impossible to secure any wood which would stand the severe strain put upon it by striking a hard ball, and the almost universal fault by beginners of hitting the ball on the heel and toe of the club. This almost invariably caused breakages, and clubs which were guaranteed were done so provided they were not struck on the heel or toe. This proviso A. G. Spalding & Bros. have now done away with, as by a process which they put all their wood through before being made up, the strongest part of the club is at the neck, and it is almost an impossibility to break them. At any rate they are prepared to guarantee that they are unbreakable, a guarantee not given by any other firm of clubmakers in the world.

THE BALL.

The ball used in the game is made of gutta percha, and size as shown in cut. The 27 or 27½ are the ones most generally used; they vary in weight and size according to the numbers—26, 27, 27½ and 28. The sizes Nos. 27 or 27½ are preferred for all-around play. The balls should be kept from frost, which causes them to crack or split. It is best to keep them in a moderately warm room when not in use during the winter.

A considerable number of years ago we should have found that a golf ball was made of a compact mass of feathers stuffed within a leather casing. This, of course, is now absolutely obsolete. All golf balls at the present time are made of gutta percha, or of some compound into which gutta percha largely enters, and here it is in order to note a very important feature of the golf ball, viz., the "nicking."

Prof. Tait, who has given more study to what he calls the "dynamics" of the golf ball than any man living, says that the flight of a ball depends on its rotation, and that this rotation is affected beneficially by the nicking of the ball, and even more important is the absolute fact that, were the ball smooth, that portion of the ball which received the impact of the club would not spring out again with the same elasticity as it does when striking against numerous ridges and knobs formed by nicking. The great trouble with golf balls, as a rule, is that they are either too hard or too soft, and in the first instance they break the face of the club, and in the latter the purse of the player by quickly becoming useless.

The Silvertown Company (vide A. G. Hutchinson, on Clubs and Balls, Badminton Library) have lately put forward a ball which strikes a very good medium between the too hard and the too soft. This is called the Silvertown "O.K." It is a good ball in all respects; no better, perhaps. These balls, and all the balls which, in our humble opinion, strike the best medium, are made of black gutta percha.

LIST OF CLUBS AND THEIR USES.

There are two styles of clubs, the wood and the iron clubs. Both have handles or shafts, usually made of hickory, which is considered the best wood for that purpose. The head of the wood club is made of beech, persimmon or dogwood; the last named is most generally preferred. Wood clubs, shod or soled with brass, are called brassies. The iron club differs from the wood club only in the head, which, as name indicates, is made entirely of mild steel.

The following is a complete list of golf clubs :

WOOD CLUBS.

Drivers,
Long Spoons,
Mid Spoons,
Short Spoons,
Baffy,
Brassie Niblics,
Bulger Drivers,
Bulger Brassies,
Brassies,
Putters.

IRONS.

Cleeks,
Iron Niblics,
Putting Cleeks,
Driving Cleeks,
Lofting Irons,
Driving Irons,
Mashies,
Gun Metal Putters,
Medium Irons.

The following is a description of the clubs :

The Putter is used for playing short strokes on the putting green. Short, stiff shaft, with head nearly at right angles to shaft.

The Cleek is the longest driver of all the iron clubs, with the face only slightly lofted.

The Driving Iron is deeper in the blade than the cleek and has more loft ; not as long a driver as the cleek, but will pitch the ball higher.

The Mashie, a compromise between the lofting iron and the niblic, is shorter in the head than the iron, but has less loft than the niblic ; used for short approaches.

The Niblic, used for getting a ball out of hazards, cart ruts, etc., has a small, rounded head, very heavy and very much lofted.

Lofting Iron, nearly same as driving iron, but much more lofted ; will pitch a ball very high.

Mid Iron, same as lofting iron, but blade is not pitched so much ; will drive a long high ball.

Driver or Play Club is the longest driving club there is ; used to drive from the tee or wherever the ball lies well and long distance is required.

The Brassie, same as driver, but with brass plate on sole and generally a little more lofted; for use in playing "through the green."

Brassie Niblic—Much smaller head than the driver, with face well spooned back, sole shod with brass; used through the green with the object of raising the ball in the air when playing from "a cuppy lie."

Long, Short and Mid Spoons—Heads same as brassie, but very much spooned, shafts long, short and medium; almost entirely superseded by the iron club.

The variety of clubs used in the game of golf is likely to confuse a novice, but it is not necessary to employ all the implements mentioned. A driver, a cleek, an approach iron and a putter will meet all requirements.

A set of six clubs would furnish a complete outfit for an expert, and might consist of a driver, brassie niblic, cleek, mashie, iron and putter.

HOW TO DRIVE.

Cultivate a good style. Style may not be of the greatest importance which some veterans insist on, but few will deny that a good style is a distinct advantage to a man who wishes to become a good player.

The beginner having bought his clubs, we would advise him in commencing the game to go to some good professional and put himself in his hands for a couple of hours at a time. See that your instructor is built pretty much on the same lines as yourself. It seems to me to be absurd for a big, heavy-built man to take lessons from a little, slim boy, who can tie himself in a knot and swing, and yet come back perfectly steady on his feet just as he hits the ball, and expect to do the same yourself with about 100 pounds more flesh covering your muscles. You will be told that all good drivers and professionals have the same theory in driving, and that they merely obtain the same results by putting those theories into practice in a different manner; but the fact remains that we are naturally imitative, and we really arrive at some fixed way of standing to address a ball, not by being put in a particular position and having our arms raised in a particular way, but by observing some one else do what we are trying to learn. And it stands to reason that if a man will observe a player driving whose build is similar to his own it will be much easier for him to imitate the player and consequently much quicker to obtain the desired results.

As it is not always within the means of all beginners (for various reasons) to have the advantage of coaching by a competent instructor, a few hints given here may not be amiss.

The first thing to engage your attention, then, as you stand upon the tee ready to begin, is to see that you sole your club properly; i. e., allow the club head to rest flat on the ground immediately behind the ball, as in Fig. 1. This is called soling the club or giving a club its natural lie. At the same time see that the face or the part of the club intended to strike the ball is held at a perfect right angle to the direction in which you intend to play. Having done that, then stand in a perfectly parallel line to the intended direction with both feet aligned, care being taken to see that you do not have the right foot dragging behind the left.

Now stand perfectly easy, with the feet firmly set upon the ground. Don't be tense, but hold yourself as relaxed as you possibly can, your main object being to stand in such a way that when you swing you will bring your club straight and squarely behind the ball in describing the circle, and follow through in the direct line for the object aimed at, viz., the hole, with the least possible exertion to yourself. Should you, on the contrary, seek to stand with the right foot behind the line of the left one, and which, by the way, is the stance most commonly adopted by beginners, your follow through will not be as free as it should be, the tendency being to press the club through with the right hand, and resulting in a slice or a pull, according to how the ball is hit, at the same time finishing your stroke with both legs crossed—not a very stylish finish by any means, and apt to make the player lose his equilibrium.

Having got some idea of how to stand, and also as to allowing your club to sole properly, the very next step in order is the position of the ball; i. e., where shall it be teed? Of course many men have many styles, and while one can see a few players tee their ball near the right foot, the vast majority tee very nearly opposite the left. And this is the position we would advise beginners to adopt as being one of the best. Our reasons are these: As the player, about to play, grasps the club, he, as a rule, holds it with the left hand on top, the right being under. This naturally makes the left arm exactly the width of the hand longer than the right one, consequently in seeking to swing the club correctly the head will reach the bottom of the arc in describing the circle when it comes in a straight line with the longer arm, or left shoulder. As this is purely an arm and shoulder movement, the left shoulder is thus necessarily the axis of the swing. Following this theory out the beginner will then see, as he stands with his feet apart ready to make the stroke, that his left shoulder is almost in perfect line vertically with his left heel, and that if the ball is teed in line with the same, the plane of the axis maintained, he must assuredly connect with the ball at the proper moment.

The great trouble with most beginners when commencing to play is that almost invariably they commit one or two faults. One of them is that when lifting the club to the shoulder in preparing for the downward sweep they are apt to raise the body ever so slightly as they raise the club. The consequence is that the ball is topped if not missed altogether. The other is the act of swaying the body away from the ball, thus again changing the plane of the axis, with the result that the head of the club comes in contact with Mother Earth many inches behind where the ball is teed. Keep, then, the head and body as steady as you can, always remembering that the arms and shoulders will do all that is necessary in getting away a good ball.

Another point to aid the beginner here in judging whether he is doing right according to this theory is to see that when he is addressing the ball the shoulder, hands and the head of the club will be in a perfectly straight line at right angles to the direction of the hole.

FIG. 2. FINISH OF SWING.

Of course there are exceptions to the general rule of teeing off the left foot, such as when getting a hanging lie or when there is a dead head wind blowing, but as the beginner is as yet only at the tee, we will let this suffice for the present.

Now we come to the grip. How to hold the club. Grasp the club firmly about an inch from the top of the shaft with the fingers of the left hand, being careful to see that the knuckles point in the direction of the proposed flight of the ball. Then allow the right hand to come as close to the left as possible, but holding as loosely as consistent with safety in the fingers of the right. This grip, the beginner can see, permits of the shaft lying in the second and third joints of the fingers, and the hands are allowed to close over. Never upon any account grasp the shaft in the palms of the hands, as if you do you will lock the joints of the wrists, and they will not be able to respond in rhythm with the swing of the club.

Having got these ideas firmly in his mind, the beginner can now try and execute the preliminary "waggle." The ideal waggle consists in a gentle swaying to and fro, once or twice only, of the club over the ball and in the same vertical plane as the arc which the head of the club ought to describe in the actual stroke. Waggle with your wrists only. Let the club head rest again for a moment behind the ball before making your upward swing (a golfing drive is not a hit; it is distinctly and absolutely a swing), and have your hands well down, about on a level with your lowest waist button. Swing your club back to a horizontal position behind the head, never for a second taking your eye off the ball, allowing the body to turn gently with its weight upon the right foot, raising the left heel off the ground—a perfectly natural motion. Keep the head of your club perfectly steady and let your upward and downward swing be practically one motion. Your body, your arms, in fact, your whole frame, should, at the moment of striking the ball, be in the same position precisely as when you addressed the ball. Let your club head follow the ball in its flight as far as you possibly can, letting your club follow through behind the head, as in Fig. 2. If the beginner has ever swung Indian clubs it will be all the easier for him to master, as it is practically the same in theory, giving the club the impetus and allowing the wrists to carry it through. Two lessons with a competent instructor should allow the veriest novice to get on to the hang of it.

FIG. 3. STANCE FOR THREE-QUARTER STROKE.

The following is an expression of opinion from Vardon, present champion, one of the best drivers in the world, on "driving":

"Many things on which we differ are of little or no importance, and the various opinions can be experimented on by the tyro without running the risk of incurring much hurt; but there are other things about which it will be wise for him to find out from more experienced players the reasons for and against, and then make a choice of what appears the best, and persevere in thinking it so, despite conflicting opinions. While there is no reason why any one should not become a good player who follows out the advice given by 'Badminton,' there are reasons why they cannot follow that advice, though they may try very hard to do so. The great drawback to those who would learn to play golf without having a professional adviser at their side is that they cannot see themselves as others see them. Could they do so, they would soon become aware of how poorly they were reproducing the swing of which they have read, and how certainly they are contracting habits which cannot fail to be detrimental to their progress. I think, therefore, that every one who is ambitious of becoming a golfer will do well at the outset to seek professional tuition. A few lessons then would probably be more useful than a great many after the faults referred to have been acquired. My manner of playing is different from either that of Park or 'Badminton.' To begin with the 'stance': Instead of having my right foot to the rear I keep it some three or four inches in advance. This, I think, is the better plan, for it allows the body to follow much more freely after the swing in the direction of the intended flight of the ball. The weight of the body I throw mostly on to the right foot, not transferring it until the ball is being struck.

"By this means the body remains comparatively still during the backward swing, thus adding impetus to the flight of the ball. If the weight of the body be thrown mostly on the left leg when addressing the ball, during the backward swing, it has to be transferred to the right and back again with the downward stroke thereby making, as it seems to me, the aim less steady.

"The position of the ball is as nearly as possible in the centre of the two feet.

"At the top of the swing my club is as nearly horizontal as possible. I grasp as firmly as possible with both hands throughout the swing for every shot. I am aware that the general belief is contrary to this, especially in the driving, but the fact remains that I find it very satisfactory, and there are many good players whom I know are with me on this point. If the right hand be held tight during the first part of the swing it surely must have a firm grip of the club when it strikes the ball.

"In gripping my club the left hand is partly hidden, the first finger and thumb being firmly locked in the right hand. The thumb of the left hand is kept along the shaft, not around it, and the little finger of the right hand rides the forefinger on the left. In this matter, so far as I know, Taylor and myself stand alone, nor do I venture to advise beginners or, in fact, any one else, to copy it.

"As to pressure being put in the down stroke, pressure should be used throughout. I fail to see how one could come gently to within one foot and a half of the ball and at the last moment put in the necessary strength. Immediately as the club begins to come down pressure should be put on, adding to its velocity until it comes in contact with the ball.

"A very simple method of finding out whether your club is in its proper position at the top of the swing, and that the left wrist is down, is to glance over your left shoulder and look at the club head. If the name is facing you, your left wrist is wrong, and when the club head strikes the ball it will be at an angle and the result a 'pulled' ball. If the left wrist is down, as it ought to be, the face of the club will be facing you and not the name."

APPROACHING.

An approach shot may be any shot not a full one intended to land the ball on the green, and is generally an iron shot. The great failing of most approach shots is that they fall too short. For every six shots played, five out of the six are not up; therefore, in selecting your club, when in doubt select the longer driving one, as no accident is likely to increase the distance of your drive, and there are many to curtail it.

FIG. 5. STIFF ARM APPROACH—THE ADDRESS.

Always run a ball in preference to pitching it, unless there is some special reason which necessitates pitching.

APPROACH SHOTS.

Approach shots differ from one another:

- (a) In point of distance.
- (b) In point of elevation.
- (c) In point of style.

And include:

(a) 1. Three-quarter shots; 2. Half shots; 3. Stiff arm approach shots.

(b) 1. Running the ball up along the ground; 2. Lofting the ball with run; 3. Lofting so as to pitch dead.

(c) Includes (1) ball played with a straightforward stroke (club head moving in the line of flight of ball).

THE THREE-QUARTER STROKE.

The necessity for this stroke has almost entirely disappeared, owing to the fact that irons have been made with almost every kind of a pitch, and a man can now select a club and make a full swing with it and achieve the same results as would have been obtained by using one of the old spoons or irons which were all formerly made with a recognized amount of loft on each. It is so much easier to make a full swing than a three-quarter one that it is always better to use a shorter carrying club when the distance to the green requires a three-quarter stroke, if one of the long driving clubs is to be used.

HALF SHOTS.

The position of the ball and stance for playing half shots is somewhat, though not materially, different from that in Fig. No. 1. The ball is nearer the player's body, and nearer also to the line of the right foot. The right foot is also further advanced. Fig. 4 shows the top of the swing. It need hardly be pointed out that as the club is not swung far around, the shoulders and the body do not move as much as in playing a full stroke. The shoulders must move round and the body must be easier. The left foot will be just raised of the heel and nothing more, the left leg flexed to ease the swing. It may, in fact, be said that the feet should not, if possible, be moved at all.

FIG. 6. STIFF ARM APPROACH—CLUB AT TOP OF SWING.

The elbow of the right arm should be kept in to the body, and not allowed to rise, but all the same the arms will be thrown out just as in playing full strokes. The follow-through will take place at the end of the swing, but instead of throwing the club and arms after the ball, they will rise quicker, and continue upwards over the left shoulder more than in the direction of the flight of the ball.

STIFF ARM APPROACH SHOTS.

Of stiff arm approach strokes there is an infinite variety of gradation—anything less than a half stroke falls under this definition. No further remarks on this subject require to be made, save that the ball should be nearer the player, and the feet closer together. Fig. 5 shows the position of the feet as the player addresses the ball; Fig. 6 shows the top of the swing. It will be observed that both legs are slightly more bent at the knees than is the case in playing a full shot, and that the body moves very little. I would only add: Stand firmly, and do not move the feet at all; keep the right elbow well into the side, and play from stiff wrists, giving the ball a quick, sharp hit.

In all these strokes the club must be held firmly with both hands, to give more command over it and to prevent its turning. It will be found of material assistance if the club is grasped further down the shaft; and the shorter the distance of the stroke to be played, the shorter a grip of the club may be taken.

In standing according to the directions above given, it will be found that while the weight of the body is supported on both legs, the right really gives the greater amount of support. This can be easily tested by trying to lift either foot off the ground. For the above reason, this mode of playing approaches has been termed "off the right leg," and it is the method most usually adopted. Fig. 7 shows finish of stroke.

PUTTING.

Putting can be divided into two heads:

1. Approach putting.
2. Putting out, or holing the ball.

The greatest stress must be laid on the fact that you must keep your eye on the ball and don't glance at the hole just as you "put." Play your stroke "off the right leg," the ball just in front of your right foot, which is a little forward. Hold the putter with equal grip of both hands, and remember that the head of your club must follow your ball in a straight line to the hole.

There are four golden axioms which should always be observed:

1. Never take your eye off the ball.
2. Do not aim too long.
3. Be up, for you can never hole out unless you go as far as the hole.
4. Treat the course as if you loved it—replace divots.

FIG. 8. PUTTING.

HARRY VARDON.

Harry Vardon was born in the village of Glouville Common, in the Isle of Jersey, May 9, 1870; consequently he will celebrate his next birthday by entering upon the thirtieth year of his age, and the eighth year of his professional career. He is 5 feet 10½ inches in height and his weight seldom varies more than a pound or two from 155 pounds with his golfing clothes. He looks as if he scaled considerably more, his square, powerful shoulders giving the idea that he weighs nearer 180 than 150. He has played golf in a mild way ever since he was eight years old, at first commencing his match-playing career with a crooked walking-stick and a few marbles. Regular tournaments were held on the common, and Vardon, who commenced with an old stick which he surreptitiously stole from his father, and four putty marbles for which he paid the princely sum of one half-penny, or one cent, was soon in a position to open a retail marble shop, and his parents were in daily receipt of protests from the surrounding families that he must either play from scratch or concede a handicap of liberal proportions to his play-fellows, as he was creating a corner in both marbles and pocket money. From this kindergarten of golf he graduated into the class of full-fledged golfers, and he joined the Workingman's Golf Club on Glouville Common.

A feature of the club's competitions was a monthly handicap over 18 holes, played for six consecutive months, and Vardon's handicap at that early stage of his golfing career (he was about nineteen or twenty at that time) was + 6. The six best scores turned in during the six competitions by the same man entitled the winner to a large cup, which was the only cup he ever won, and which he values as much as he does his open championship medals. After winning five times during the first five months during which the competition ran, and leading the second man by nearly thirty strokes, and being obliged to sail for England to take charge of the Ripon Golf Club (his first engagement as a professional), he was permitted to play for the sixth time, a few days before the regular match day, an innovation in the rules of match play which shows in what high respect and with what cordial feelings he was regarded by his fellow townsmen. Vardon then migrated from the island made famous by the beautiful but slightly erratic Jersey Lily and took up his residence at Ripon, in Yorkshire, where he remained until one of the members of the club, recognizing that he had the making of a great golfer, and that his play was being utterly ruined owing partly to the natural disadvantages of the course and to his lack of opportunity for playing, advised him to try and secure a new green. Just at that time the Bury G. C., in Lancashire, were looking for a green keeper, and he was offered the position, which he promptly accepted, and stayed there three years, during which time he improved his game wonderfully, and it was there that the idea of holding his club in the peculiar way which he does occurred to him—a grip which has since become famous as the “Vardon Grip.” There are all sorts of ideas as to what the Vardon grip is, and a description of it might be interesting. He grasps the club with equal firmness with both hands, the right hand completely covering the left thumb, which is straight down the shaft, and the little finger of the right hand overlapping the index finger of the left hand, not interlocking but overlapping, the thumb of the right hand for driving and brassie play lies on the left hand of the centre of the shaft and for iron play straight down the shaft.

An advertisement from the Scarboro' Golf Club for a first-class professional being shown him early in 1896, he answered it and secured the position, and three months after he won his first open championship, Taylor, the open champion of 1894-1895, tying with him and having to play 36 more holes medal play to decide the tie. At the end of the first 18 holes Vardon led his opponent by 2 strokes, which he promptly threw away on his first drive in the afternoon, putting his ball into the woods and having to play three from the tee. He then started in and gave the most phenomenal exhibition of nerve ever seen on a golf course. I say nerve, because playing, as he was, practically an unknown man against the open champion with 20 to 1 bet against him, and to play the whole match as he did, never taking more than two on a green to hole out, requires a nerve which is not necessary in any other part of the game; the man who can hole his eight and ten foot puts without missing once deserves to win any competition he enters. In 1897 he was sixth, six strokes behind the winner, H. H. Hilton, the amateur; he went out the first time in 86 and stood nearly at the bottom of the list after the morning play; and it speaks well for his control over himself that after practically losing all chance of winning during the first 18 holes, he played the remaining 54 holes in so brilliant a manner that he had pulled himself up to sixth place at the finish.

In 1898 he again had a heart-breaking task set him. Park at the end of 54 holes was leading him three strokes, and it looked as if it was all over but the shouting, but Vardon proved what a game finisher he is by negotiating the last 18 holes in 76, beating Park out at the last hole with a three against a four for his adversary, and again winning the title of open champion by one stroke. In 1899 he never gave his backers a moment's uneasiness or his opponents any chance, winning for the third time and leading the second man by seven strokes.

He has won thirty-one open competitions, and has only been beaten twice in open tournaments in the last two years. The best record he ever made was over the golf course of the Scarborough Golf Club, at Ganton, in Yorkshire, England, when he holed the full course of about 5,280 yards in the marvellous figures of 66, going out in 35 and coming home in 31.

The best 9-hole record he ever made was at Windermere, in Cumberland, when he made an average of seven below four, negotiating the course in 29.

He is a most interesting and entertaining man to talk with, as he is an all-round athlete and a keen sportsman, and nothing comes amiss to him. He has a charming manner, and is the most quiet, modest fellow that I ever came across. You might be with him for days, and golf is the last subject he would mention, and about his own achievements he never volunteers a remark unless asked point blank, and then it is generally some one else's game he gets enthusiastic about. About the technique of the game it is the greatest pleasure in the world, after listening to the twaddle which is the stock in trade of the average professional, to get an expression of opinion from the greatest player of this or of any other day, and to find that he treats the whole matter from the commonest of common sense points of view and expresses himself in the simplest and plainest of language, and does not for one minute assert that you must do this or you must not do that because some theoretical expert has asserted that this or that theory is the only one, and that without following it out literally you can never become a really good player. He has adopted a certain style of play which is the survival of the fittest, at least as far as he is personally concerned, and his is literally a style which he finally succeeded in finding suited his anatomy, after trying nearly every other, and curiously enough he does not assert that it is the only way to play; but if you will talk with him on the subject you will be convinced that, as far as common sense and the natural sequence of good results being obtained from good beginnings, his way commends itself most heartily to any one who has not been born, bred and raised in the atmosphere impregnated with the old traditions and theories of the royal and ancient game, and possibly somewhat biased by an indulgence also in the spirit which a true-born Scottish golfer will never fail to have ready at his elbow to assist him in arguing his statements from a theoretical down to a practical basis.

OFFICIAL RULES

The United States Golf Association, in making these Rulings and Interpretations, has made no change in the wording, nor in the import, of the Rules of Golf, as adopted by the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrew's, but has only added such definitions and explanations as appeared to be called for, or suggested by custom and decisions of competent experts.

February, 1900.

RULE ONE.

DEFINITIONS.

(a) The game of golf is played by sides, each playing its own ball. A side consists either of one or of two players. If one player play against another, the match is called "a single." If two play against two, it is called "a foursome." A single player may play against two, when the match is called "a threesome," or three players may play against each other, each playing his own ball, when the match is called "a three-ball match."

RULING OF THE U. S. G. A.

"Match play" is decided by the number of holes won.

"Medal play" is decided by the aggregate number of strokes.

"Col. Bogey" is an imaginary opponent, against whose arbitrary score each competitor plays by holes; otherwise bogey competitions are governed by the special rules for stroke competitions, except that a competitor loses the hole:

When his ball is lost;

When his ball is not played where it lies, except as otherwise provided for in the rules.

(b) The game consists in each side playing a ball from a teeing ground into a hole by successive strokes, and the hole is won by the side which holes its ball in fewer strokes than the opposite side, except as otherwise provided for in the rules. If the sides hole out in the same number of strokes, the hole is halved.

RULING OF THE U. S. G. A.

In competitions:

In match play, when two competitors have halved their match, they shall continue playing hole by hole till one or the other shall have won a hole, which shall determine the winner of the match.

Should the match play competition be a handicap, the competitors must decide the tie by playing either one hole, three or five more holes, according to the manner in which the handicap ceded falls upon certain holes so as to make the extra holes a fairly proportionate representation of the round.

In medal play, when two or more competitors are tied, the winner shall be determined by another round of the course; except that by-laws 15 and 19 of the United States Golf Association provide that, in case of ties for the 16th place in the amateur championship medal rounds, or the eighth place in the women's championship medal rounds, respectively, the contestants so tied shall continue to play until one or the other shall have gained a lead by strokes, the hole or holes to be played out.

(c) The teeing-ground shall be indicated by two marks placed in a line, as nearly as possible at right angles to the course.

The hole shall be $4\frac{1}{4}$ inches in diameter, and at least 4 inches deep.

(d) The term "putting green" shall mean all ground within 20 yards of the hole, except hazards.

(e) A "hazard" shall be any bunker, water (except casual water), sand, path, road, railway, whin, bush, rushes, rabbit scrape, fence, or ditch. Sand blown on to the grass, or sprinkled on the course for its preservation, bare patches, snow, and ice are not hazards. Permanent grass within a hazard shall not be considered part of the hazard.

(f) The term "through the green" shall mean all parts of the course except "hazards" and the putting-green which is being played to.

(g) The term "out of bounds" shall mean any place outside the defined or recognized boundaries of the course.

(h) "Casual water" shall mean any temporary accumulation of water (whether caused by rainfall or otherwise) which is not one of the ordinary and recognized hazards of the course.

(i) A ball shall be "in play" as soon as the player has made a stroke at the teeing-ground in each hole, and shall remain in play until holed out, except when lifted in accordance with the Rules.

(j) A ball shall be considered to have "moved" only if it leave its original position in the least degree, and stop in another; but if it merely oscillate, without finally leaving its original position, it shall not be considered to have "moved."

(k) A ball shall be considered "lost" if it be not found within five minutes after the search for it is begun.

(l) A "match" shall consist of one round of the links, unless it be otherwise agreed.

A match is won by the side which is leading by a number of holes greater than the number of holes remaining to be played. If each side win the same number of holes, the match is halved.

(m) A "stroke" shall be any movement of the ball caused by the player, except as provided for in Rule 4, or any downward movement of the club made with the intention of striking the ball.

(n) A "penalty stroke" is a stroke added to the score of a side under certain rules, and shall not affect the rotation of play.

(o) The privilege of playing first from a teeing-ground is called "the honour."

(p) "Addressing the ball" shall mean that a player has taken up his position and grounded his club, or if in a hazard, that he has taken up his position preparatory to striking the ball.

(q) The reckoning of the strokes is kept by the terms—"the odd," "two more," "three more," etc., and "one off three," "one off two," "the like." The reckoning of holes is kept by the terms—so many "holes up," or "all even," and so many "to play."

RULE TWO.

A match begins by each side playing a ball from the first teeing-ground.

The player who shall play first on each side shall be named by his own side.

The option of taking the honour at the first teeing-ground shall be decided, if necessary, by lot.

A ball played from in front of, or outside of, or more than two club lengths behind the two marks indicating the teeing-ground, or played by a player when his opponent should have had the honour, may be at once recalled by the opposite side, and may be re-fed.

The side which wins a hole shall have the honour at the next teeing-ground. If a hole has been halved the side which had the honour at the last teeing-ground shall again have the honour.

On beginning a new match the winner of the long match in the previous round shall have the honour, or if the previous match was halved the side which last won a hole shall have the honour.

RULING OF THE U. S. G. A.

Penalty for playing a ball outside of the limits of teeing-ground:

In match play, the ball may be at once recalled by the opponent, no stroke being counted for the misplay.

In medal play, disqualification.

Penalty for leading off the tee out of turn:

In match play, the ball may be at once recalled by the opponent, no stroke being counted for the misplay.

In medal play, no penalty—but it is customary in medal play to observe the honour.

RULE THREE.

A player shall not play while his ball is moving, under the penalty of the loss of the hole. But if the ball begin to move while the player is making his upward or downward swing he shall incur no penalty, except as provided for in rules 10, 18 and 27, and a stroke lost under rule 27 shall not in these circumstances be counted as a stroke of the player.

RULING OF THE U. S. G. A.

Penalty for playing a moving ball (except at the tee):

In match play, loss of the hole.

In medal play, two strokes.

But if the ball move while the player is making his upward or downward swing a penalty is only incurred if the player is deemed to have caused it to move, under rules 10 and 18, by moving or touching any loose impediment, or rule 27, by grounding his club, or in a hazard, by taking his stand to play it, in which cases the penalty shall be:

In match play, one stroke.

In medal play, one stroke.

RULE FOUR.

If the ball fall or be knocked off the tee in addressing it, no penalty shall be incurred, and it may be replaced, and if struck when moving no penalty shall be incurred.

RULE FIVE.

In a threesome or foursome the partners shall strike off alternately from the teeing-grounds, and shall strike alternately during the play of the hole.

If a player play when his partner should have done so, his side shall lose the hole.

RULING OF THE U. S. G. A.

Penalty:

In match play, loss of the hole.

In medal play, two strokes.

RULE SIX.

When the balls are in play, the ball farthest from the hole which the players are approaching shall be played first, except as otherwise provided for in the rules. If a player play when his opponent should have done so, the opponent may at once recall the stroke. A ball so recalled shall be dropped as near as possible to the place where it lay, without penalty.

RULING OF THE U. S. G. A.

*"Otherwise provided for" in rule 32, and medal rule II.
Penalty for playing out of turn:*

In match play, ball may be at once recalled by the opponent, no stroke being counted for the misplay.

In medal play, no penalty—the ball may . . . be recalled.

RULE SEVEN.

The ball must be fairly struck at, not pushed, scraped or spooned, under penalty of the loss of the hole.

RULING OF THE U. S. G. A.

Penalty:

In match play, loss of the hole.

In medal play, two strokes.

RULE EIGHT.

A ball must be played wherever it lies or the hole be given up, except as otherwise provided for in the rules.

RULING OF THE U. S. G. A.

"Otherwise provided for" in rules 9, 11, 13, 15, 17, 22, 23, 28, 31, 32, 34.

Penalty:

In match play, loss of the hole.

In medal play, two strokes, except otherwise provided for in medal rules 6, 8, 9, 10, 11.

RULE NINE.

Unless with the opponent's consent, a ball in play shall not be moved or touched before the hole is played out, under penalty of one stroke, except as otherwise provided for in the rules. But the player may touch his ball with his club in the act of addressing it without penalty.

If the player's ball move the opponent's ball through the green, the opponent, if he choose, may drop a ball (without penalty) as near as possible to the place where it lay, but this must be done before another stroke is played.

RULING OF THE U. S. G. A.

"Otherwise provided for" in rules 11, 13, 15, 17, 22, 23, 28, 31, 32, 34, and medal rules 6, 8, 9, 10, 11.

Penalty:

In match play, for moving or touching, one stroke.

In medal play, one stroke.

If a competitor's ball be displaced by another competitor's ball it must be replaced, or its owner shall be disqualified.

RULE TEN.

Any loose impediment (not being in or touching a hazard) which is within a club length of the ball may be removed. If the player's ball move after any such loose impediment has been touched by the player, his partner, or either of their caddies, the penalty shall be one stroke. If any loose impediment (not being on the putting-green) which is more than a club length from the ball be removed, the penalty shall be the loss of the hole.

RULING OF THE U. S. G. A.

Penalty for ball moved (not in hazard) after removing loose impediment within club length of the ball:

In match play, one stroke.

In medal play, one stroke.

Through the green, for removing loose impediment more than a club length from the ball:

In match play, loss of the hole.

In medal play, two strokes.

SPALDING'S ATHLETIC LIBRARY.

RULE ELEVEN.

Any vessel, wheelbarrow, tool, roller, grass cutter, box, or similar obstruction may be removed. If a ball be moved in so doing, it may be replaced without penalty. A ball lying on or touching such obstruction, or on clothes, nets, or grounds under repair or covered up or opened for the purpose of the upkeep of the links, may be lifted and dropped without penalty, as near as possible to the place where it lay, but not nearer the hole. A ball lifted in a hazard, under such circumstances, shall be dropped in the hazard.

A ball lying in a golf hole or flag hole, or in a hole made by the greenkeeper, may be lifted and dropped without penalty as near as possible to the place where it lay, but not nearer the hole.

RULING OF THE U. S. G. A.

"As near as possible" shall mean within a club length.

If a ball lie on or within a club length of a drain cover, water pipe or hydrant, it may be lifted and dropped without penalty as near as possible to the place where it lay, but not nearer the hole.

RULE TWELVE.

Before striking at a ball in play, the player shall not move, bend or break anything fixed or growing near the ball, except in the act of placing his feet on the ground for the purpose of addressing the ball, in soling his club to address the ball, and in his upward or downward swing, under penalty of the loss of the hole, except as otherwise provided for in the rules.

RULING OF THE U. S. G. A.

"Otherwise provided for" in rules 11, 13, 30.

Penalty:

In match play, loss of the hole.

In medal play, two strokes.

RULE THIRTEEN.

When a ball lies in or touches a hazard, nothing shall be done to improve its lie; the club shall not touch the ground, nor shall anything be touched or moved before the player strikes at the ball, subject to the following exceptions: (1) The player may place his feet firmly on the ground for the purpose of addressing the ball; (2) In addressing the ball, or in the upward or downward swing, any grass, bent, whin, or other growing substance, or the side of a bunker, wall, paling, or other immovable obstacle may be touched; (3) Steps or planks placed in a hazard by the green committee for access to or egress from such hazard may be removed, and if a ball be moved in so doing, it may be replaced without penalty; (4) Any loose impediments may be removed from the putting-green; (5) The player shall be entitled to find his ball as provided for by rule 30. The penalty for a breach of this rule shall be the loss of the hole.

RULING OF THE U. S. G. A.

Penalty:In match play, loss of the hole.In medal play, two strokes.

RULE FOURTEEN.

A player or caddie shall not press down or remove any irregularities of surface near a ball in play. Dung, worm casts, or mole hills may be removed (but not pressed down) without penalty. The penalty for a breach of this rule shall be the loss of the hole.

RULING OF THE U. S. G. A.

Penalty:In match play, loss of the hole.In medal play, two strokes.Pressing down the surface behind the ball by prolonged or forcible grounding of the club shall be deemed a breach of this rule.

RULE FIFTEEN.

If a ball lie or be lost in water, the player may drop a ball, under penalty of one stroke. But if a ball lie or be lost (1) in casual water through the green, a ball may be dropped without penalty; (2) in water in a hazard, or in casual water in a hazard, a ball may be dropped behind the hazard, under penalty of one stroke; (3) in casual water on a putting-green, a ball may be placed by hand behind the water without penalty.

RULING OF THE U. S. G. A.

Penalty:

In match play, one stroke.

In medal play, one stroke.

A ball lifted from a recognized water hazard may be dropped under a penalty of one stroke, even if the hazard be dry at the time.

If the water in a recognized water hazard overflow its usual boundaries the overflowed portion of the course shall be considered as part of the hazard, and not as casual water.

If a ball lie or be lost in casual water in a hazard, a ball may be dropped without penalty, behind the water, but in the hazard, keeping the spot, where it entered the water, in line to the hole.

RULE SIXTEEN.

When a ball has to be dropped, the player himself shall drop it. He shall face the hole, stand erect behind the hazard or casual water, keep the spot from which the ball was lifted (or in the case of water or casual water, the spot at which it entered) in a line between himself and the hole, and drop the ball behind him from his head, standing as far behind the hazard or casual water as he may please. If it be impossible to drop the ball behind the hazard or casual water, it shall be dropped as near as possible to the place where it lay, but not nearer the hole. If the ball so dropped touch the player dropping it, there shall be no further penalty, and if the ball roll into a hazard, it may be redropped without further penalty.

RULING OF THE U. S. G. A.

Penalty for a ball not dropped in accordance with this rule:

In match play, the opponent may call for the player to drop again; if the request be not complied with the player shall lose the hole.

In medal play, the ball must be dropped again or the competitor disqualified.

RULE SEVENTEEN.

When the balls lie within six inches of each other on a putting green, or within a club length of each other through the green or in a hazard (the distance to be measured from their nearest points), the ball nearer the hole may, at the option of either the player or the opponent, be lifted until the other is played, and shall then be replaced as near as possible to the place where it lay. If the ball farther from the hole be moved in so doing, or in measuring the distance, it shall be placed without penalty. If the lie of the lifted ball be altered by the player in playing, the ball may be placed in a lie as nearly as possible similar to that from which it was lifted, but not nearer the hole.

RULE EIGHTEEN.

Any loose impediments may be removed from the putting green, irrespective of the position of the player's ball. The opponent's ball may not be moved except as provided for by the immediately preceding rule. If the player's ball move after any loose impediment lying within six inches of it has been touched by the player, his partner, or either of their caddies, the penalty shall be one stroke.

RULING OF THE U. S. G. A.

Penalty:

In match play, one stroke.

In medal play, one stroke.

RULE NINETEEN.

When the ball is on the putting green the player or his caddie may remove (but not press down) sand, earth, dung, worm casts, mole hills, snow, or ice lying round the hole or in the line of his putt. This shall be done by brushing lightly with the hand only across the putt and not along it. Dung may be removed by a club, but the club must not be laid with more than its own weight upon the ground. The line of the putt must not be touched, except with the club immediately in front of the ball, in the act of addressing it, or as above authorized. The penalty for a breach of this rule is the loss of the hole.

RULING OF THE U. S. G. A.

Penalty:

In match play, loss of the hole.

In medal play, two strokes.

The "line of the putt" does not extend beyond the hole.

The "player or his caddie" shall include his partner or his partner's caddie.

RULE TWENTY.

When the ball is on the putting green, no mark shall be placed, nor line drawn as a guide. The line of the putt may be pointed out by the player's caddie, his partner, or his partner's caddie, but the person doing so must not touch the ground.

The player's caddie, his partner, or his partner's caddie, may stand at the hole, but no player nor caddie shall endeavor, by moving or otherwise, to influence the action of the wind upon the ball.

The penalty for a breach of this rule is the loss of the hole.

RULING OF THE U. S. G. A.

Penalty:

In match play, loss of the hole.

In medal play, two strokes.

RULE TWENTY-ONE.

When on the putting green, a player shall not play until the opponent's ball is at rest, under penalty of one stroke.

RULING OF THE U. S. G. A.

Penalty:In match play, one stroke.In medal play, one stroke.

RULE TWENTY-TWO.

Either side is entitled to have the flag-stick removed when approaching the hole. If the ball rest against the flag-stick when in the hole, the player shall be entitled to remove the stick, and, if the ball fall in, it shall be deemed as having been holed out at the last stroke. If the player's ball knock in the opponent's ball, the latter shall be deemed as having been holed out at the last stroke. If the player's ball move the opponent's ball, the opponent, if he choose, may replace it, but this must be done before another stroke is played. If the player's ball stop on the spot formerly occupied by the opponent's ball, and the opponent declare his intention to replace, the player shall first play another stroke, after which the opponent shall replace and play his ball. If the opponent's ball lie on the edge of the hole, the player, after holing out, may knock it away, claiming the hole if holing at the like, and the half if holing at the odd, provided that the player's ball does not strike the opponent's ball and set it in motion. If after the player's ball is in the hole, the player neglect to knock away the opponent's ball, and it fall in also, the opponent shall be deemed to have holed out at his last stroke.

RULING OF THE U. S. G. A.

Penalty—If player's ball knock in the other ball:In match play, the latter shall be counted as holed out in the last stroke.In medal play, the latter must be replaced or its owner disqualified.—If player's ball displace the other ball:In match play, the other ball may be replaced at its owner's option, but this must be done before another stroke is played.In medal play, the other ball must be replaced or its owner disqualified.

RULE TWENTY-THREE.

If a ball in motion be stopped or deflected by any agency outside the match, or by the forecaddie, the ball must be played from where it lies, and the occurrence submitted to as a "rub of the green." If a ball lodge in anything moving, a ball shall be dropped as near as possible to the place where the object was when the ball lodged in it, without penalty. If a ball at rest be displaced by any agency outside the match, excepting wind, the player shall drop a ball as near as possible to the place where it lay, without penalty. On the putting-green the ball shall be replaced by hand, without penalty.

RULING OF THE U. S. G. A.

Ball at rest displaced:

In match play, must be dropped, or if on putting green replaced, as near as possible to where it lay, or the hole shall be lost.

In medal play, must be replaced as near as possible to where it lay, or its owner must be disqualified.

RULE TWENTY-FOUR.

If the player's ball strike or be moved by an opponent or an opponent's caddie or clubs, the opponent shall lose the hole.

RULING OF THE U. S. G. A.

Penalty incurred:

In match play, loss of the hole.

In medal play, no penalty.

If the player's ball strike the other competitor or his caddie or clubs, it is a "rub of the green," and the ball shall be played from where it lies. If a player's ball at rest be moved by the other competitor or his caddie, the ball must be replaced or the player disqualified.

RULE TWENTY-FIVE.

If the player's ball strike or be stopped by himself or his partner, or either of their caddies or clubs, his side shall lose the hole.

SPALDING'S ATHLETIC LIBRARY.

RULING OF THE U. S. G. A.

Penalty:

In match play, loss of the hole.

In medal play, one stroke.

RULE TWENTY-SIX.

If the player, when making a stroke, strike the ball twice, the penalty shall be one stroke.

RULING OF THE U. S. G. A.

Penalty:

In match play, one stroke.

In medal play, one stroke.

RULE TWENTY-SEVEN.

If the player, when not intending to make a stroke, or his partner or either of their caddies, move his or their ball, or by touching anything cause it to move, when it is in play, the penalty shall be one stroke. If a ball in play move, after the player has grounded his club in the act of addressing it, or, when in a hazard, if he has taken up his stand to play it, he shall be deemed to have caused it to be moved, and shall lose a stroke, which shall be counted as a stroke of the player, except as provided in Rule 3.

RULING OF THE U. S. G. A.

Penalty for moving the ball or causing it to be moved as under

Rules 10 and 18:

In match play, one stroke.

In medal play, one stroke.

RULE TWENTY-EIGHT.

If a player play the opponent's ball, his side shall lose the hole, unless (1) the opponent then play the player's ball, whereby the penalty is cancelled, and the hole must be played out with the balls thus exchanged, or (2) the mistake occur through wrong information given by the opponent or his caddie, in which case there shall be no penalty, but the mistake, if discovered before the opponent has played, must be rectified by placing a ball as near as possible to the place where the opponent's ball lay.

If it be discovered before either side has struck off from the next teeing-ground (or, after playing the last hole in the match, before any of the players have left the green) that one side has played out the hole with the ball of a party not engaged in the match, that side shall lose that hole.

RULING OF THE U. S. G. A.

Penalty for breach of this rule:

First—Playing the opponent's ball with exceptions (1) and (2) above noted in the rule:

In match play, loss of the hole.

In medal play, no penalty. The ball must be replaced.

Second—Playing out with the ball of a party not engaged in the match:

In match play, if discovered before the next tee stroke, loss of the hole.

In medal play, the player must go back and play his own ball, or, not finding it, return as near as possible to the spot where it was last struck, tee another ball and lose a stroke (rule 6, medal play) or else be disqualified.

RULE TWENTY-NINE.

If a ball be lost, except as otherwise provided for in the rules, the player's side shall lose the hole; but if both balls be lost the hole shall be considered halved.

RULING OF THE U. S. G. A.

"Otherwise provided for" in rules 15, 31.

Penalty for lost ball:

In match play, loss of the hole.

In medal play, the competitor must return as near as possible to the spot from which the lost ball was struck, tee a ball and lose a stroke.

RULE THIRTY.

If a ball be lost in fog, bent, whins, long grass, or the like, only so much thereof shall be touched as will enable the player to find his ball. The penalty for a breach of this rule shall be the loss of the hole.

RULING OF THE U. S. G. A.

Penalty:

In match play, loss of the hole.

In medal play, two strokes.

RULE THIRTY-ONE.

If a ball be driven out of bounds, a ball shall be dropped at the spot from which the stroke was played, under penalty of loss of the distance.

RULING OF THE U. S. G. A.

Penalty:

In match play, loss of the distance.

In medal play, loss of the distance.

RULE THIRTY-TWO.

In a three-ball match, if a player consider that an opponent's ball on the putting-green might interfere with his stroke, he may require the opponent either to lift or hole out his ball at the opponent's discretion.

If an opponent consider (1) that his own ball, if left, might be of assistance to the player, he is entitled to lift it, or hole out at his discretion; or (2) that the ball of the other opponent might be of such assistance, he may require that it be either lifted or holed out at the other opponent's discretion.

RULE THIRTY-THREE.

A player shall not ask for advice from any one except his own caddie, his partner; or his partner's caddie, nor shall he willingly be otherwise advised in any way whatever, under penalty of the loss of the hole.

RULING OF THE U. S. G. A.

Penalty:In match play, loss of the hole.In medal play, disqualification.

RULE THIRTY-FOUR.

If a ball split into separate pieces, another ball may be put down where the largest portion lies, or if two pieces are apparently of equal size, it may be put where either piece lies, at the option of the player. If a ball crack or become unfit for play, the player may change it, on intimating to his opponent his intention to do so. Mud adhering to a ball shall not be considered as making it unfit for play.

RULE THIRTY-FIVE.

If a dispute arise on any point, the players have the right of determining the party or parties to whom it shall be referred, but should they not agree, either side may refer it to the rules of golf committee, whose decision shall be final. If the point in dispute be not covered by the rules of golf, the arbiters must decide it by equity.

RULING OF THE U. S. G. A.

Such decisions may be finally referred to the executive committee of the United States Golf Association.

SPECIAL RULES FOR STROKE COMPETITIONS

RULE ONE.

In stroke competitions, the competitor who holes the stipulated course in fewest strokes shall be the winner.

RULE TWO.

If the lowest scores be made by two or more competitors, the tie or ties shall be decided by another round to be played on the same day. But if the green committee determine that to be inexpedient or impossible, they shall then appoint the following or some subsequent day whereon the tie or ties shall be decided.

RULING OF THE U. S. G. A.

Except that bylaws 15 and 19 of the United States Golf Association provide that, in case of ties for the 16th place in the amateur championship medal rounds, or for the eighth place in the women's championship medal rounds, respectively, the contestants so tied shall continue to play until one or the other shall have gained a lead by strokes, the hole or holes to be played out.

RULE THREE.

New holes shall be made for stroke competitions, and thereafter no competitor, before starting, shall play any stroke on a putting green, under penalty of disqualification.

RULING OF THE U. S. G. A.

Competitors must always assume that new holes have been made. Practice strokes may be played through the green and in hazards.

In match play competitions, other than bogey competitions, practice strokes may be played on the putting greens.

RULE FOUR.

The scores shall be kept by a special marker, or by the competitors noting each other's scores. The scores marked shall be checked after each hole. On completion of the round, the score of the competitor shall be signed by the marker, countersigned by the competitor, and handed to the secretary or his deputy, after which, unless it be found that a card returned shows a score below that actually played (in which case the competitor shall be disqualified), no correction or alteration can be made.

RULE FIVE.

If a competitor play from outside the limits of the teeing ground, the penalty shall be disqualification.

RULE SIX.

If a ball be lost (except as otherwise provided for in the rules of golf), the competitor shall return as near as possible to the spot from which the lost ball was struck, tee a ball and lose a stroke. The lost ball shall continue in play if it be found before the player has struck another ball.

RULING OF THE U. S. G. A.

Penalty for breach of this rule shall be disqualification.

"Otherwise provided for" in rules 15, 31.

RULE SEVEN.

If a competitor's ball strike himself, his clubs or caddie, the penalty shall be one stroke.

RULE EIGHT.

If a competitor's ball strike another competitor, or his clubs or caddie, it is a "rub of the green," and the ball shall be played from where it lies. If a competitor's ball, which is at rest, be moved by another competitor or his caddie, or his club, or his ball, or by any outside agency excepting wind, it shall be replaced as near as possible to the place where it lay, without penalty.

RULE NINE.

A competitor shall hole out with his own ball at every hole, under penalty of disqualification. But if it be discovered, before he has struck off from the next teeing ground, or, if the mistake occur at the last hole, before he has handed his card to the secretary or his deputy, that he has not holed out with his own ball, he shall be at liberty to return and hole out with his own ball without penalty.

RULING OF THE U. S. G. A.

If he fail to find his own ball he shall return as near as possible to the spot from which he last struck it, tee a ball and lose a stroke. (Medal rule 6).

RULE TEN.

A ball may be lifted out of a difficulty of any description, and teed, if possible, behind it, under penalty of two strokes. If it be impossible to tee the ball behind the difficulty, it shall be teed as near as possible to the place where it lay, but not nearer the hole.

RULE ELEVEN.

All balls shall be holed out, under penalty of disqualification. When a competitor's ball is within 20 yards of the hole, the competitor shall not play until the flag has been removed, under penalty of one stroke. If the ball nearer the hole might either interfere with the competitor's stroke, or in any way assist the competitor, such ball must be holed out or lifted, at the owner's option. Through the green a competitor may have any other competitor's ball lifted, if he find that it interferes with his stroke.

RULE TWELVE.

A competitor, unless specially authorized by the green committee, shall not play with a professional, and he may not willingly receive advice from any one but his caddie, in any way whatever, under penalty of disqualification.

A forecaddie may be employed.

RULING OF THE U. S. G. A.

Each competitor may have a forecaddie.

RULE THIRTEEN.

Competitors shall not discontinue play on account of bad weather, under penalty of disqualification.

RULE FOURTEEN.

Where, in the "Rules of Golf," the penalty for the breach of any rule is the loss of the hole, in stroke competitions the penalty shall be the loss of two strokes, except where otherwise provided for in these special rules.

RULE FIFTEEN.

Any dispute regarding the play shall be determined by the rules of golf committee.

RULING OF THE U. S. G. A.

Such decision may be finally referred to the executive committee of the United States Golf Association.

RULE SIXTEEN.

The rules of golf, so far as they are not at variance with these special rules, shall apply to stroke competitions.

ETIQUETTE OF GOLF

1. A single player has no standing and must always give way to a properly constituted match.

2. No player, caddie, or onlooker should move or talk during a stroke.

3. No player should play from the tee until the party in front have played their second strokes, and are out of range, nor play up to the putting green till the party in front have holed out and moved away.

4. The player who has the honor should be allowed to play before his opponent tees his ball.

5. Players who have holed out should not try their putts over again when other players are following them.

6. Players looking for a lost ball must allow other matches coming up to pass them.

7. On request being made, a three-ball match must allow a single, threesome or foursome to pass. Any match playing a whole round may claim the right to pass a match playing a shorter round.

8. If a match fail to keep its place on the green, and lose in distance more than one clear hole on those in front, it may be passed, on request being made.

9. Turf cut or displaced by a stroke should be at once replaced.

10. A player should carefully fill up all holes made by himself in a bunker.

11. It is the duty of an umpire or referee to take cognizance of any breach of rule that he may observe, whether he be appealed to on the point or not.

RULING OF THE U. S. G. A.

The "etiquette of golf" shall be as binding upon players as the other rules of the game.

LAYING OUT A GOLF COURSE.

IT is impossible to write anything which would be of any value to a club about to lay out a golf course. It depends entirely on the lie of the land and the nature and location of the obstacles over which it is purposed to play. Any man who has played golf and who has seen any fair course, can do far better than could be done by reading a book on the subject.

If possible, get a professional who understands laying out a course, and pay him a fair compensation. It will be far cheaper in the long run to do that than to lay it out wrong, and after going to a big expense, have some good man come up and tell you: "If you want a good course, your greens ought to be in different places." If no one tells you, you will very soon find it out by experience, and any club who has been unfortunate enough to pass through the experience of changing a number of holes, can appreciate what the expense is in doing so.

Have your course in a circle, beginning and finishing, if possible, close to the club house.

Roughly speaking, do not have any holes crossing one another; do not make the course too difficult, and avoid trees, which are not legitimate hazards; beware of terraced greens.

GLOSSARY OF TECHNICAL TERMS EMPLOYED IN THE GAME OF GOLF.

Addressing the ball—Putting one's self in position to strike the ball.

Approach—When the player is sufficiently near the hole to be able to drive the ball to the putting green his stroke is called the "approach shot."

Baff—To strike the ground with the "sole" of the club-head in playing, and so send ball in air.

Baffy—A wooden club to play lofting shots.

Bent—Rush, bent-grass.

Bogey—Usually given the title of Colonel. A phantom who is credited with a certain score for each hole, against which score each player is competing.

Bone—A piece of ram's horn inserted in the sole of the club to prevent it from splitting.

Brassie—A wooden club with a brass sole.

Break-club—An obstacle lying near a ball of such a nature as might break the club when striking at the ball.

Bulger—A club with a convex face.

Bunker—Generally any rough, hazardous ground—more strictly, a sand-pit.

Bye—Any hole or holes that remain to be played after the match is finished. They are played for singly; unless the sides agree to make another match of them.

Caddie—A person who carries the golfer's clubs, and who can usually give him advice in regard to the game.

Cleek—An iron-headed club of considerable driving power, and sometimes used for putting.

Club—The implement with which the ball is struck. The heads are of three kinds—wood, wood with a brass sole, and iron only.

Course—That portion of the links on which the game ought to be played, generally bounded on either side by rough ground or other hazard.

Cup—A small hole in the course, usually one made by the stroke of some previous player.

Dead—A ball is said to be "dead" when it lies so near the hole that the "putt" is a dead certainty. A ball is said to fall "dead" when it does not run after alighting.

Dormy—One side is said to be "dormy" when it is as many holes ahead as there remain holes to play. (This word is probably derived from the French, like many Scottish terms.)

Draw—To drive widely to the left hand. (Identical in its results with Hook and Screw.)

Driver—See Play-Club.

Face—First, the slope of a bunker or hillock; second, the part of the club-head which strikes the ball.

Flat—A club is said to be "flat" when its head is at a very obtuse angle to the shaft.

Fog—Moss, rank grass.

Fore!—A warning cry to any person in the way of the stroke. (Contracted from "before.")

Foursome—A match in which two play on each side.

Gobble—A rapid, straight "putt" into the hole, such that, had the ball not gone in, it would have gone some distance beyond.

Grassed—Said of a club whose face is slightly "spooned" or sloped backward.

Green—First, the whole links; second, the putting-ground around the different holes.

Grip—First, the part of the handle covered with leather, by which the club is grasped; second, the grasp itself.

Half-one—A handicap of a stroke deducted every second hole.

Half-shot—Less than a full swing.

Halved—A hole is said to be "halved" when each side takes the same number of strokes. A "halved match" is a "drawn game"—that is, the players have proved to be equal.

Hanging—A "hanging" ball is one which lies on a downward slope.

Hazard—A general term for bunker, long grass, road, water, whin, molehill, or other bad ground.

Head—This word is a striking specimen of incongruity and mixed metaphor. A head is the lowest part of a club, and possesses, among other mysterious characteristics, a sole, a heel, a toe or nose, a neck and a face!

Heel—First, the part of the head nearest the shaft; second, to hit from this part, and send the ball to the right hand.

Hole—First, the four-inch hole lined with iron; the holes going out are marked with white, and those coming in, with red flags. Second, the whole space between any two of these.

Honor—The right to play off first from the tee.

Hook—See Draw.

Hose—The socket in iron-headed clubs, into which the wooden shaft fits.

Iron—A club made of the material its name implies, with the head more or less laid back to loft a ball. A most deadly weapon in a good player's hands.

Jerk—In "jerking," the club should strike with a quick cut behind the ball, and stop on reaching the ground.

Lie—First, the inclination of a club when held on the ground in a natural position for striking; second, the situation of a ball, good or bad.

Like—See under Odds.

Like-as-we-liè—When both sides have played the same number of strokes.

Links—The open downs or heath on which golf is played.

Loft—To elevate the ball.

Long odds—When a player has to play a stroke more than his adversary, who is much farther on—that is, nearer the hole.

Made—A player, or his ball, is said to be "made" when his ball is sufficiently near the hole to be played on the putting green next shot.

Mashie—A club which, both in its make and its uses, is a compromise between the niblic and the iron.

Match—First, the sides playing against each other; second, the game itself.

Miss the globe—To fail to strike the ball, either by swinging right over the top of it, or by hitting the ground behind it, is counted a stroke.

Neck—The crook of the head where it joins the shaft.

Niblic—A small, narrow-headed, heavy iron club, used when the ball lies in bad places, as ruts or whins, etc.

Nose—The point or front portion of the club-head.

Odds—First, means the handicap given by a strong player to a weaker in a single match, consisting of either one, two, three or more holes to start with, or one stroke per hole, or every alternate hole, or at every third hole, etc.; second, to have played the "odds" is to have played one stroke more than your adversary. Some other terms used in counting the game will be most easily explained here altogether. If your opponent has played one stroke more than you—that is, "the odds"—your next stroke will be "the like;" if two strokes more—that is, "the two more"—your next stroke will be "the one off two;" if "three more," "the one off three," and so on.

One-off-two, One-off-three, etc.—See under Odds.

Play-club—A wooden-headed club, with full-length shaft, more or less supple; with it the ball can be driven to the greatest distance. It is used when the ball lies well.

Press—To strive to recover lost ground by special hard hitting—a very dangerous thing to attempt.

Putt—To play the delicate game close to the hole. (Pronounced u as in but.)

Putter—An upright, stiff-shafted, wooden-headed club (some use iron heads), used when the ball is on the putting green.

Rind—A strip of cloth under the leather to thicken the grip.

Rub on the green—A favorable or unfavorable knock to the ball, for which no penalty is imposed, and which must be submitted to.

Scare—The narrow part of the club-head by which it is glued to the handle.

Scloff—When the club-head strikes the ground behind the ball, and follows on with a ricochet.

Scruff—Slightly razing the grass in striking.

Set—A full complement of clubs.

Shaft—The stick or handle of the club.

Sole—The flat bottom of the club-head.

Spoons—Wooden-headed clubs of three lengths—long, middle and short; the head is scooped, so as to loft the ball.

Spring—The degree of suppleness in the shaft.

Square—When the game stands evenly balanced, neither side being any holes ahead.

Stance—The position of the player's feet when addressing himself to the ball.

Steal—To hole an unlikely "putt" from a distance, but not by a "gobble."

Stroke—The act of hitting the ball with the club, or the attempt to do so.

Stymie—When your opponent's ball lies in the line of your "putt."

Swing—The sweep of the club in driving.

Swipe—A full driving stroke.

Tee—The pat of sand on which the ball is placed for the first stroke each hole.

Third—A handicap of a stroke deducted every third hole.

Toe—Another name for the nose of the club.

Top—To hit the ball above its centre.

Two-more, Three-more, etc.—See under Odds.

Upright—A club is said to be "upright" when its head is not at a very obtuse angle to the shaft.

Whins—Furze or gorse.

Whipping—The pitched twine uniting the head and handle.

Wrist shot—Less than half a shot, generally played with an iron club.

To the Greens Committee

We would like to draw your attention to the fact that we have in our employ Mr. Thomas Bendelow, who has probably laid out more golf courses in the United States than any other half-dozen men combined.

Mr. Bendelow is an expert in this line and is thoroughly practical, understanding turf and seeding as well as anyone in the world.

Any golf clubs that have had the misfortune to find it necessary to change the location of their greens know what an enormous expense it is. We do not know of a single instance in which a golf course laid out by Mr. Bendelow has had to be changed, and we know of dozens which he has had to remodel at a very heavy cost to the club.

Our charges for his services are very moderate, indeed, and we would strongly recommend that any club about to organize, or any club about to alter its course, should communicate with us and get our figures before going to any great expense in any other direction.

To Golf Professionals

During the year we have a great number of inquiries from clubs wanting professionals, and from individuals wanting private instruction. It is rarely that we are unable to place a good man on a good green, and we would strongly recommend that all professionals should keep us posted as to their whereabouts, and if they contemplate making any change, or if they are out of work, that they should communicate with us at once.

We also have continuous inquiries for golf makers, both for our own factories and from many of our wholesale customers, who require men to do repair work in their stores.

We would also suggest that professionals should secure our wholesale professional price list of everything pertaining to golf, as we can, unquestionably, owing to our enormous facilities and our equally large output, furnish you with goods of a better quality and at a lower price than it is possible for any other manufacturer to sell at.

The Silvertown Golf Ball

Size 27 1-2

Selected quality, thoroughly seasoned

The "Silvertown" Ball is almost exclusively used on the principal links of Scotland and England, and is universally conceded the best ball made. Constructed of pure gutta percha, and by a process known only to the manufacturers, it combines not only uniformity of weight and resiliency, but extreme durability and perfection of flight. These essentials of a perfect Golf Ball are not so happily combined in any other make, and have justly earned for it a reputation not only at the home of the golfers, but in every country where the ancient game is played. We have the exclusive control of this ball for the United States, and guarantee each ball furnished by us to be of selected quality and thoroughly seasoned. None the genuine "Silvertown" Ball unless embossed with trade-mark "SILVERTOWN," as shown in cut.

No. 4. Per dozen, $4.00

UNBREAKABLE FEATURE OF SPALDING CLUBS

WE wish to draw particular attention to the unbreakable quality of our clubs. It is an impossibility to break them at the neck. We have been experimenting for a long time and have discovered a process which, although it increases the cost of making a head nearly 50 per cent., leaves it practically unbreakable. If placed in a vise and repeatedly struck with a hammer the neck can be bent over, and by twisting back and forth can be separated from the head, but it is impossible to break one with any kind of a direct blow. In a recent test made by a well-known professional, it required all his strength with a large hammer to bend the neck sufficient to separate it from the head.

OLD GOLF BALLS MADE NEW

We have put in a special plant at our factory for the remolding of old golf balls. These balls are not remolded in the ordinary way but undergo the identical process used in making a new ball. The result is a ball about one-half to one pennyweight lighter than the original 27 or 27½ ball, but otherwise it is precisely the same as regards looks, durability and elasticity. They take only a very short time to mature, as the gutty is already thoroughly seasoned, and the balls still retain all the valuable qualities which were found in the original ones. With the possible exception of a thoroughly seasoned new ball, it is impossible to get any ball which will last longer or "carry" better than a ball made over by this process. We give them three coats of the famous Griffith paint, the only paint used and recommended by the Silvertown people. We usually have sufficient stock of remade balls to make exchange on receipt of old balls, but guarantee to remold them within ten days. All express charges on old balls must be prepaid

WRIGHT & DITSON'S NEW GOLF PRACTISING DEVICE

The Wright & Ditson New Device for Golf Practice is the best that has ever been invented. It is constructed so that the player may practice any style stroke, using either wood or iron clubs and with all the force he may desire. The dial registers from 1 to 100, so that a game may be played on the machine starting from 0, and the player who makes 100 in the least number of strokes wins. The device can be used on any lawn or in the house, taking up very little room, as the ball revolves around the standard. Every player should have one.

The H. VARDON GOLF CLUBS.

Represent the perfection of workmanship in golf clubs and are exact duplicates of those used by Vardon, who has given us the exclusive use of his models, and expressed himself as more than satisfied with our work. The clubs that he is now using we made for him, and his wonderful showing in the United States is proof of their superior qualities. Be sure you get the genuine "H. Vardon" clubs, everyone of which is stamped with his facsimile signature.
